

Button Box Scholarship

Administered by the
Reynolds-Hanafin-Cooley (RHC) CCE Branch

The Button Box is a long-established business in Sunderland, MA that sells and repairs concertinas and accordions from various makers and across a wide price range. In addition, they manufacture their own brand of concertina. They are demonstrating their support for the development of traditional Irish music students by funding a scholarship for a concertina or accordion player enrolled in the CCE Boston Music School. The scholarship is awarded annually and covers one full year's tuition.

To qualify the applicant must be under 21 years of age, currently enrolled in the CCE Boston Music School, have been playing a minimum of one year, and have exhibited a commitment to continuing their study of the concertina and/or accordion.
